CHOOSING THE RIGHT FUEL FOR THE JOB

Bernzomatic manufactures dependable, safe hand torches as well as propane tanks and handheld propane, MAP-Pro™ and oxygen cylinders. Choosing the right fuel—and using it safely—depends on the task you're performing and what type of hand torch you're using. The following tips can help you make the right fuel selection.

B Butane

Ideal for light soldering or detailed work, butane gas is compatible with smaller, handheld tools such as micro torches. It is also the fuel used to power Bernzomatic utility lighters.

P Propane

Ideal for soldering copper pipes, heating frozen pipes and rusted nuts, softening paint and other lower-heat DIY and art projects, as well as for use in the kitchen. Use with a variety of torches including self-igniting and manual ignition. Pick a wide flame torch for most applications which don't need pinpoint-type heat.

M MAP-Pro

Ideal for soldering larger size copper pipes, brazing and heat-treating, MAP-Pro delivers a higher flame temperature, which allow tasks to be completed more quickly. Choose a torch specially designed to work with MAP-Pro fuel such as the TS4000 High Heat Torch or TS8000 Max Heat Torch.

HT Cavity Wax Transparent

- HT Cavity Protection Wax offers exceptional protection against rust and corrosion in cavities and unseen areas of your vehicle.
- After application the product forms a transparent layer which is only dry on the surface repelling water away from metal surfaces.
- The layer of wax remains flexible for years. Any cracks that may normally appear due to flexing, close automatically to ensure optimum rust protection is preserved.
- HT Cavity Protection Wax conforms to the highest current European specifications for both performance and environmental damage.
- Where cavities may be subject to existing rust (usually on non-new vehicles) de-rust with FERTAN before application.
- Ensure you observe the Fertan instructions of use and allow 48 hours before beginning wax treatment.

Stone Chip Protection Black

- OVER 4 SPS is a very durable body and stone chip protection that can be over-painted with all commonly available colours and paints
- OVER 4 SPS meets the most demanding requirements for protecting valuable vehicles against the damaging effects of atmospheric pollution and damage caused from foreign objects, stone chips, etc.
- The high adhesion properties of OVER 4 SPS onto metal, inhibits the formation of rust and corrosion over a long period.
- In previously rusted areas, de-rust with FERTAN before application of OVER 4 SPS
- USES: For protection of under bodies, door sills, wheel arches and spoilers

Kabosh Paint Odour Eliminator

KABOSH! is a paint additive that neutralizes paint odors. Once the paint is applied, the KABOSH! molecules attach themselves to the paint vapors, causing them to fall away undetected. Simply add KABOSH! to paint to eliminate paint smell—so painted interiors can be occupied sooner.

- Eliminates 75–90% of paint odors
- Ideal for commercial contractors painting in occupied buildings
- Works in most paints, stains, primers, epoxies, and most other surface coatings
- Will not affect paint adhesion, hardness, and performance
